

Mon, 14 May 2007

Artemis Woman Heel Smoother, Wow!

Topic: Reviews

Well, the search for the perfect foot product has finally come my way. Artemis Woman Heel Smoother looks like a power sander, and that's exactly what it does to your feet. It looked like it was erasing the calluses from my feet.

At first I was timid because the little gadget looked like it could really hurt. I mean it's a little battery powered thing with a sanding thingy on the end that spins. Eek!

Even so, I took a deep breath and let it fly. Wow, wow, wow! After about ten minuets my feet were perfectly smooth like I had just gotten a pedicure.

It also has an attachment that does your cuticles.

My only reserve is that if you hold the Heel Smoother in one place for more than a few seconds it burns. I recommend not doing that.

If used properly, though, the Heel Smoother felt like a nice foot massage.

I ended the home pedi with the Artemis Woman Topaz Foot Butter. It is not something to use before bed because the smell is so invigorating. I made the mistake and wasn't able to sleep for hours!

The Artemis Woman Heel Smoother can be found at most department stores, including Wal-Mart, for $29.99. Think of all the money you'll save on pedicures.

